

To anyone who needs an It specialist.

We have employed Farina and David IT several times to fix those unfixable problems that teenagers seem to incur on their laptops.

The service has been extremely quick and informative. They have provided a comprehensive service, suited to each of my children's computer problems.

Not only have they fixed the problems, but provided advice and future back up when it was required.

I highly recommend them because they have a genuine passion for what they do.

And we will use their services in the future for all of our computers problems.
